The BRFFSC participates in the following categories of figure skating under regulation of USFS:

Updated 8/01/2021

Learn To Skate - Using the USFS Learn to Skate Program, coaches will teach and/or reinforce proper skating form. Sessions are open to persons age 3 and above, including adults.

Junior Club - Junior Club provides additional ice time for Learn to Skate skaters in two ways. First, it provides an opportunity for a skater to practice what they learned in their group lesson. Secondly, it is an opportunity for skaters to hire a coach for individual lessons.

Senior Club/Private Lessons:

Moves In The Field - This is compulsory footwork that is used to gain edge control

Freestyle - This consists of jumps, spins and footwork skated to music

Ice Dance – Ice dance is footwork sequences set to a specific dance style, either with a partner or solo. Testing for ice dance follows a similar track as Moves in the Field

Additional Opportunities:

Synchronized Skating - This stresses formation, moves and maneuvers performed in unison by a group of skaters. The major objectives of synchronized skating are unison and accuracy of formations. Tryouts for BRFFSC synchronized lines are held at the beginning of each season if necessary.

High School Team - School affiliated clubs offer skaters the opportunity to continue their participation in the sport of figure skating in a team environment, while also increasing awareness about their sport within their high school.

SKATING EQUIPMENT

Skating Boots

Talk to a skating instructor before purchasing skates. Skate boots should fit like a well-fitted shoe of proper size, have a snug-fitting heel, and have plenty of ankle support. If the boot is too large and lacks ankle support, the skater loses control. Boots that are too small are not only uncomfortable, but feet become cold sooner from poor circulation.

As the skater becomes more advanced and is working on the more difficult jumps, the skater will need a high-quality boot with maximum support. The skater's instructor may be able to suggest the appropriate skate for the skater's level of skating.

It is important that boots provide support for the ankle. Leather skates are supposed to be stiffer to support the ankles. New skates need a period of time to be "broken in." As the skater uses the boots, the leather will conform to the skater's feet and crease slightly at the ankle. If the skater's ankles become sore, pads or gel socks may help alleviate the problem. The time it takes to break in the boot varies from skater to skater. Some skaters have few, if any, problems, while others have more problems. If problems continue or the boot seems to be bending easily within a few weeks, have a skating instructor check the boots and, if necessary, take the boot back to the skate shop.

Sizing Skates

Skate sizes are different from shoe sizes. Skaters are encouraged to consult with a professional or coach and a professional skate retailer to assure best style and fit.

Skate Blades

For the beginning skater, skate boots are sold with a factory freestyle blade attached. As skaters advance, boots and blades will be purchased separately. The blade is designed with a concave skating surface and toe picks. The concave design is there to give the skate definite inside and outside edges for control. The purpose of the picks is to assist the skater in jumping and should not be altered, unless recommended by an instructor. To keep blades sharp and free from damage and nicks, always wear skate guards when not on the ice surface. However, be careful to remove the guards when stepping onto the ice surface, so an unnecessary fall will not occur. To prevent rusting always wipe the blades dry after use and put on a protective cover (i.e. terry cloth blade covers sometimes called soakers.) Do not store blades in wet or dirty skate guards. Because of the concave design and the importance of edges on the blades, it is important to have skate blades sharpened by an experienced sharpener to avoid permanent damage.

LEARN TO SKATE PROGRAM

Skaters begin in our Learn to Skate program. This assures quality instruction and uniformity in skating programs throughout the United States. There are 6 levels in the Learn to Skate division of the USFS program. All 6 levels and Pre-Freeskate must be completed before moving into the second part of the program - Senior Club (Private Lessons).

The Learn to Skate registration fee includes group instruction, ice time, enrollment in the USFS Learn to Skate Program. Learn to Skate testing will be done on designated dates and will be done by the Learn to Skate Coaches. Skaters will be moved to appropriate groups as needed. If a parent does not wish a skater to be tested, please let the Learn to Skate Coordinator know in advance. If you would like information regarding summer skating, please talk with a coach or one of the Board of Directors.

PRIVATE LESSON PROGRAM (Senior Club)

When a skater passes Pre-Freeskate, they will transition into private lessons. When a skater enters private lessons, it is the skater's responsibility to contract and set up a lesson time with one of our club's approved coaches. The skater will pay the coach their individual rate directly to them. The BRFFSC will provide a list of coaches and their telephone numbers. The BRFFSC does not employ these coaches when they are teaching private lessons. The BRFFSC does, however, contract with these coaches for Learn to Skate, synchronized skating teams, introduction to Ice Dance, and ice show related activities. When in private lessons, the skater and her/his parents are responsible for issues with the coach. The Board of Directors bears no responsibility for non-performance of a privately hired coach.

Private lesson skaters – know your coach's phone number. A skater should call their instructor when not able to make a lesson. Skaters make sure your coach knows your phone number so they can do the same. Testing and competition can be very confusing. If you have questions, talk to a coach or a Board Member.

Pay your coach promptly. If you do not pay promptly -within two weeks of receiving a bill, BRFFSC will be forced to limit or suspend contracted ice time. Further non-payment may result in suspension of membership. Coaches should bill promptly as well.

Private lesson skaters are required to schedule and pay for their own ice time through contracts. Contracts are available online (Website) Specific instructions for deadline times, rates, etc. are online. Private lesson ice rates are $8/hr ($4/30 min) for contracted ice, and $9/hr ($4.50/30 min) for random (walk on) ice.

Testing is the way a skater progresses through the levels of skating. A Moves test must be passed before taking a Freestyle test at a given level. Upon passing the moves test, a skater can then test the freestyle portion of that level. When tested, a standard skill level set by the USFS measures the skaters. Qualified USFS judges test skaters at a test session. Testing is usually available in conjunction with competitions. There are many testing sessions available through the various clubs.

Another option in figure skating is to learn a program for exhibition and/or competition. During a competition, a skater skates at his or her own test level or one level higher. The length of the program increases as the skater tests to higher levels. This is a wonderful experience for the skaters and most skaters enjoy it very much. Different than testing, it gives the skater a chance to measure progress against other skaters at the same test and age level.

2. Show groups will be made at the discretion of the ice show committee. Different level skaters may be put together to accommodate the number of songs needed for the ice show. Groupings may need to be done almost immediately after our season begins in order to have costumes in time for picture day. This may result in a skater participating in a show number with other skaters they may have not skated with since the beginning of the season, due to testing. Please be understanding of this fact as our time frames do not allow us to operate in any other way.
3. Any skater missing a show practice without an excused absence or prior Board of Director approval may be dismissed from the ice show. It is the skater's responsibility to contact the instructor in charge of their ice show number for an excused absence.
4. It is the responsibility of the parent to get the skater to the rink and on the ice for the ice show practices.
5. Don't leave a Learn to Skate skater unattended during ice show practices. Scheduled practices may run early or late.
6. Being 10 minutes late for a show practice will count as an unexcused absence.
7. If a skater misses a show practice due to an excused absence, it is the skater's responsibility to have the instructor or another skater teach what was missed.
8. A skater must attend both show run-through and the dress rehearsal unless there is an excused absence or prior Board of Directors approval.
9. All Skating Families may be required to play music during show practice.
